

Abstract

In data processing drugs, Health Center manual records, is all the data a book or archive. The absence of a system-based computer to handle data processing, thus causing the information and the maker of the required reports late that raised issues such as the process of data search, the missing documents and secure report generation.

In designing the system uses the average method to determine the final value of the inventory, which some supporting software among appserer that includes preloaded PHP, MySQL database Web server spahe, and PHP Admin expected that this system, enables the user to control the inventory by using the inventory card so that the data will be stored.

keyword : inventories, average method, PHP and Mysql.