

ABSTRACT

The development of information technology has now progressed very rapidly, as well as the development of phone cell or hand phone. By using a mobile-based information technology is to support businesses in the field of border house is expected to overcome the problems that exist in the old system is manual. Thus customers can find the border house with on-line.

The customers just visit a website, the customer will guide with google maps for knowing location.

It is expected to facilitate the owner of border house to marketing it for civilian. As well as to provide convenience to customers to make knowing location.

Keywords : Information Systems, mobile, searching .