

ABSTRACT

Bantul has many schools that qualified them high school or high school to become a reference in choosing a school . That makes Bantul become a favorite destination for students .

Evolving technology plays an important role in information and communication, Evolving technology plays an important role in information and communication, information technology is helpful in building a Geographic Information System regarding the location of an event or business scope. By using PHP, MySQL, HTML 5 Geolocation and Google Maps Javascript API can be used to build and store location data that you want displayed in detail.

Information systems are built is able to provide location information and is expected to assist the public in making decisions to determine the schools that will be addressed .

Keywords : Geographic Information System, Google Maps Javascript API MySQL , PHP, Search the nearest school.