

ABSTRACT

General Motors is one of the leading providers of trading services in Klaten motor loans. Since its establishment in 2003, General Motors has been getting a lot of customers, but along with the more easily obtain credit motorcycle competitor appear leading to reduced customer.

The method used in the calculation of credit in the system is Flat Rate which is one method of interest calculation produces the same amount of interest every month, because the interest is calculated on the percentage of interest multiplied by the initial principal.

From the result of design and discussion on Motor Credit Information System Online Based Website in General Motor Klaten, it can be concluded the system can handle the installments for cars online and customers can determine the amount of loan installments before taking the motor.

Keywords: Credit, Flat Rate, Services, Website